EVICTED GERMAN SLEEP ON STRAW CROWDED CAMP FOR REFUGEES

Minister of Interior, Arriving for Inspection, Says Conditions Equal His Worst Apprehension.

NUMBER OF REFUGEES
EXCEEDS ESTIMATES

Polish Charge at Washington Says Germans Were Sent From Poland According to Agreement.

By the Associated Press.

SCHNEIDEMUEHL, Germany, Aug. 2.—Minister of the Interior Severing arrived here late last night to inspect the refugee camp. The Minister said his worst apprehensions as to the condition of the refugees had been confirmed and that after another inspection he would decide on relief measures. The refugees are Germans evicted from Poland.

In one hall, oppressively hot, and badly ventilated, 500 children and adults of both sexes are huddled together with thin layers of straw as beds. In other halls conditions are almost as bad.

Of the 4000 refugees in camp, one-fourth are children, and Herr Severing said it was essential that nurseries be established for them. Scenes reminiscent of World War I internment camps were witnessed in this frontier town in view of the decision of the managers of the camp to introduce various forms of entertainment in an effort to cheer the evicted Germans.

Severing Says New Camp May Be Established.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Minister of the Interior Severing, on leaving Berlin for Schneidemuehl yesterday, asserted that he was no friend of the camp method of dealing with the Germans evicted from Poland, but preferred distributing them promptly to various districts throughout Germany. In this connection, however, he said there were "too many official bureaus" in Prussia and Germany to be considered.

It, on his arrival in Schneidemuehl, he saw the necessity for a second refugee camp. Herr Severing said this would be established immediately at Gossen. The Prussian Government has appropriated 1,000,000 marks for the benefit of the refugees.

A report received by the Vossische Zeitung from Schneidemuehl says Gov. von Dueslow of the frontier province at Posen, West Prussia, admitted a bad state of affairs in the refugee camps.

The Governor said the principal cause for the unsatisfactory situation was the rule, dictated by experience, not to equip such camps comfortably, for the refugees never could be induced to leave them. He added that the astounding number of the refugees took the responsibility of the authorities by surprise.

The Consul-General of Poland had predicted a maximum of 2000, whereas actually 11,000 sought asylum in the camp.

Eviction of Germans Based on Agreement, Says Charge.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Hippolit Glivic, Polish Charge d'Affaires at Washington today has given out a statement concerning the eviction of German citizens from Poland. He said that the evictions were not made as a reprisal, but were carried out under the provisions of the League of Nations.

Glivic said German citizens affected were warned a year in advance to prepare for the transfer. He denied that Poland was responsible for any of the hardships suffered by the Germans in their exodus during the last days of the period fixed by their transfer, which expired Aug. 1.

"As regards the case in question," the statement said, "it should be realized that under the peace treaty, Poland and Germany began negotiations soon after the war for mutual adjustment of the matter of action for nationality on the part of the Poles resident in Germany and German residents in Poland. It having been found impossible to reach a complete understanding on this subject, arbitrated by the auspices of the League of Nations was resorted to.

"Judge Kaeklenbeck, a distinguished Belgian jurist, who was chairman of the mixed Silesian tribunal, was appointed by the league and accepted by both Poland and Germany.

CHICAGO MURDER RATE MORE THAN ONE A DAY

Number to Date This Year Is 227 and Increase of 71 Per Cent Over Total for 1922
Is in Prospect.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Men are being murdered in Chicago at a rate of more than one each day. A total of 227 have been murdered to date this year. If that ratio continues for the next 154 days, the Chicago murder rate at the end of 1925 will number 391.

That estimate is comparable with 347 Chicago murders last year, 279 in 1923, 228 in 1922, 190 in 1921, 194 in 1920 and 230 in 1919, which established a record. These figures are of murder cases, which a jury of the Cook County Coroner has decided that the death was a murder, and the tabulation of them was made by the Chicago Crime Commission.

Chicago had a population of 2,701,795 in 1920. All of Canada in 1921 had a population of 8,783,483. Those are official census figures. Each. In 1919, Canada reported 79 murders when Chicago's was 330; in 1920 Canada reported 57 murders, Chicago 194; in 1921 Canada reported 76, Chicago 190; and in 1922 Canada reported 56, while Chicago's totaled 228.

On the basis of these figures for 1922, Chicago had one murder for each 11,945 of population, while Canada had one for each 156,919 persons of its population. Relatively Chicago had 13 times as many murders as all of Canada, and Chicago will probably have 71 per cent more murders in number this year than it had three ago. In 1923 in London there were 27 murders as compared with 270 for Chicago in that same year.

HONOR OF CHINESE FAMILY —SAVED BY FAKE FUNERAL—

PEKIN, July 1.—How the grand-mother of a 16-year-old Chinese girl, Miss Lu, untangled a matrimonial snarl by means of a pretended funeral wherein the grand-daughter was cast for the chief role, is current tea-house gossip.

Miss Lu was affianced to Mou Tung-chang, 24 years old, who was in the service of Chief Executive Tso Kun. Mou had social position, and had saved some money, and the marriage was to have occurred in July. While preparations were under way, however, it became known to the parents of Miss Lu that Mou had lost his situation in the executive household and that he had squandered his savings.

An engagement between Chinese young people is a serious affair, involving the honor of both families. It is a contract not easily repudiated, so that the question of ending their daughter from union with a penniless husband gave the parents of Miss Lu great concern.

When they had about decided that there was no way out, the grandmother stepped into the breach. She caused a coffin to be purchased and brought to the family home. The family went into mourning and word was spread abroad that Miss Lu was dead. The funeral was carried out in most solemn style, one of the conspicuous mourners being Mou Tung-chang.

After it was all over Mou discovered the ruse and learned that his promised bride had been spirited away and married to another who was well to do and who had assumed all the expense of the funeral and mourning. Mou is reported to be suing the parents for breach of contract and damages.

HORSE RACING IN KENTUCKY
SAFE FOR AT LEAST 2 YEARS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 3.—Study of the results of Saturday's State-wide primary election shows that thoroughbred racing is safe in Kentucky for at least two more years.

Efforts by various elements in both political parties to get nomination of candidates to the State General Assembly who were pledged to work for repeal of the State pari-mutuel law failed and it is not believed by political experts tonight that the matter of repeal will be brought up in the next General Assembly.

This was the second big fight over such a measure, one having been defeated in the Assembly two years ago by a scant margin after the racing interests had mobilized heavy strength, headed by Rev. Thomas L. Settle, pastor of an Episcopal church here, who said he took this position because he had seen the evils of bookmaking in his native England and believed pari-mutuel betting the lesser of the two evils.

The fight to get the repeal, however, is expected to be waged again two years hence in the legislative races, as the repeal movement is backed by several newspapers and numerous religious and affiliated organizations over the State.

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week.

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women, too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now, for McJoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks, and now feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing, flesh-producing vitamins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fatty taste and because it often upsets the stomach.

McJoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are as easy to take as candy and if any thin person don't gain at least 10 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Delph Drug Stores, Kadeville Drug Co., Franklin Bros. Drug Co., or any live pharmacist anywhere.

But be sure to get McJoy's, the original and genuine, and bear in mind that for 100% safety kids they are wonderful—a very sickly child—age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

$100,000 FIRE LOSS AT BOECKELER LUMBER CO.

President Thinks Pyromaniac Is Responsible for Second Destructive Blaze in Year.

The Boeckeler Lumber Co., 2600 Hall street, suffered its second $100,000 fire loss in a year last night when a warehouse containing choice woods burned shortly after 9 o'clock. The blaze attracted a large crowd.

William Koehn, night watchman, reported he had just passed through the frame structure and, glancing backward, noticed the flames. The stock burned rapidly and was still smoldering in the early hours this morning, although chances of spreading had been eliminated.

William P. Boeckeler, president of the company, expressed the opinion that a pyromaniac was responsible for the blaze. The last fire, Sept. 1 of last year, was followed by the arrest and confession of William Kauffman, 22 years old. He later repudiated his confession but was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for third degree arson.

The loss last night was insured. CHILD BURNED AT PLAY DIES

Vera Norton's Clothing Catches From Fire of Matches.

Vera Norton, 5 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Norton of 2117 Clifton place, died at city hospital last night from burns suffered when her clothing caught fire while she was playing with matches in the yard of her home at 7 p. m.

Her clothing was burned from the body before her parents and neighbors reached the yard in response to her screams.

German Mine Strike Settled.

By the Associated Press. SAARBRUCKEN, Germany, Aug. 2.—Work in the Saar mines, where 70,000 workers struck last week over the question of wages, was resumed today on a normal scale. Railways affected by the strike have returned to their regular schedules. (The strike is understood to have resulted from the depreciation of the franc, the workers being paid in French currency. Representatives of the miners last week conferred with the Ministry of Labor in Paris after which presumably a settlement was reached.)

Good Crops for Jews in Ukraine.

By the Associated Press. MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Harvest prospects in the old and new Jewish colonies in Soviet Russia present a contrasted picture of hope and despair. Reports received here are that the Jewish colonies in the Krivoy Rog district of Ukraine, expect an abundant crop, more abundant than in the last 15 years. The colonists hope to improve their impoverished condition and to pay off their accumulated debts. In the Odessa district, only three Jewish colonies have had good harvests. In the other 12, crops have been ruined.

KIDNAPED IN 1879, WOMAN DECLARES; SEEKS PARENTS
Abduction Years Ago in Greene County Recalled in Letter to Police Chief

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 3.—In the spring of 1879 a little company of travelers passed through Springfield in light spring wagons and continued on their way on a road leading northeast from the city. Stopping at a farm, members of the band sought to take some vegetables from a garden. The farmer's wife, who was at the farm house with her 2-year-old daughter, set the dogs on the unwelcome visitors. Angered at being chased, one member of the band slipped into the front yard and before the mother's eye seized the baby. The travelers then jumped into their wagons and disappeared. By the time the neighbors had arrived at the farm house in answer to the mother's screams the travelers' wagons were several miles away and a chase proved futile. Much excitement was caused in Greene County by the kidnapping, but through the years nothing had been heard of the missing child. Yesterday, however, A. C. Boehm, Chief of Police, received from Mrs. Belle Cullison, 1811 South Robnett street, Oklahoma City, a letter saying: "I am a stranger to you, but I would like your help. I don't know whether my parents are living or dead. In the spring of 1879 a little girl about 2 years old was kidnapped from her father's farm by a company of travelers in camp wagons. They stole me because my mother set the bloodhounds on them. One of the families kept me as a prisoner and reared me. Before the man died he, however, made a confession. Now I would like to find my own father and mother if they are living. My father's name was Joseph Cecord or Secord. I don't know how he spelled his name. I have tried to find them by writing letters, but the letters always came back." Mrs. Cullison is now 48 years old.

REVERSAL IN SCOPES CASE

Says Regulation by State of What Can Be Taught Is Contrary to Natural Rights.
Copyright 1925 by the Press and Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)
PARIS, Aug. 3.—The Dayton evolution trial may have been a seven-day wonder and passed, but among French intellectuals who take seriously the right of free thought, it is becoming an increasingly bigger matter, and now the Ligue des Droits de l'Homme (League of the Rights of Man) has taken it up officially. The league takes issue with the Dayton Court for having condemned Scopes and imposed a $100 fine. It objects to the state determining what a professor can teach and regrets that taxpayers, through representatives, should be in a position to perpetuate ignorance. The league agenda says: "This is contrary to man's natural right to be informed of all doctrines and all opinions which form the human heritage." The manifesto concludes with the "urgent hope" that the case will be reversed by a higher court.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL BILL

Would Affect Children Between Ages of 6 and 14—Heavy Penalties for Parents.
By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Aug. 3.—The Free State Government has introduced and will attempt to have passed at the next session of the Dail Eireann an act compelling all children between the ages of 6 and 14 to attend school. Hitherto education has not been compulsory but the proposals prescribe heavy penalties for parents who in future neglect to send their children to school. Employment which prevents a child under the age of 14 from obtaining proper benefit from attendance at school is made illegal. Except in the towns, the authority to enforce the school law will be the new police.

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—Reeves Schrey, vice-president of the Chase National Bank of New York, and a Mr. Fleming of New York, a cotton man associated with the textile commission, accompanied by their wives, arrived here yesterday from Paris. Their visit is connected with an attempt to negotiate with the All-Russian textile syndicate big purchases of cotton in America and the rehabilitation of the Soviet textile industry in the United States. The Americans were met at the station by members of the board of the State textile syndicate. A committee of Soviet trade representatives has been formed to give the American business men a warm welcome to Russia.

THIS offers a test that will effect some unique results on your skin. That will make it seem shades lighter than before. That will correct oily skin and nose conditions amazingly. That will double and triple the effectiveness of your "make-up."
Modern beauty science has found a new way to remove cold cream... a different way from any you have ever known.
It will prove that no matter how long you have used cold cream, you have never removed it, and its accumulation of dirt, entirely from your skin... have never removed it in gentle safety to your skin.
This new way is called Kleenex. Dainty and exquisite, you use it, then discard it. Just use the coupon. A 7-day supply will be given to you to try.
A scientific discovery
We are makers of absorbents. Are world authorities in this field.
On the urge of a noted dermatologist, we perfected this scientifically right material for removing cold cream.
It is the only product made solely for this purpose. It represents some two years of scientific research. There is no other like it.
Banishes oily skins—dark skins
It stops oily nose and skin conditions amazingly. For these come from overladen pores... cold creams and oils left for nature to expel. That is why you "powder" now so often.
It combats skin eruptions. For they're invited by germ accumulations left in the skin, breeding places for bacteria.
Old methods, towels, cloths and fibre substitutes, failed in absorbency. And thus often rubbed infectious dirt accumulations back into your skin. That is why tiny imperfections often come. Why your skin may look so dark at times.
Multipled skin benefits
Now in Kleenex those failures are corrected. Soft as down and white as snow, it contrasts the harshness of cloth or fibre makeshifts with a softness that you'll love.
It comes in exquisite sheets, 27 times as absorbent as the ordinary towel. 25 times that of paper and fibre substitutes. You use it, then discard it.
Kleenex comes in two sizes... the Professional (sheets 9 by 10 inches) and the Boudoir size (sheets 6 by 7 inches) in exquisite flat handkerchief boxes to fit your dressing table drawer.
It does what no other method yet has done... removes ALL the cleansing cream, all dirt and pore accumulations gently from the skin. And that means much to you.
Just present the coupon
Kleenex will prove the inadequacy of towels and cloths. Will make a quick and noted difference in your skin. Clip the coupon now before you forget. Present it at your store for 7-day supply at our expense. Do this today. Clip it now before you forget.

Tales of Rockefeller- Grieved at Lack Public Acclaim Return From

Oil Master—Could Not Understand Why ments Had Not Won It; He Is An Average Man and Often Hums and S

By FRED C. KELLY.

WHEN John D. Rockefeller arrived in C day, many years ago, a newspaper man r arms with him enterprisingly and began to tions before the other reporters got on the job.

"What do you think about this 'reasonable the recent Supreme Court decision?" he inquired.

"I don't know," replied Rockefeller.

"What have they been doing lastly at Rockefeller Institute?"

"I don't know."

"And what about Chicago University? Do you contemplate any more donations there?"

"I don't know."

Several more questions drew the same "I don't know."

Whereupon the reporter said
with genuine impatience:

"Mr. Rockefeller, may I inquire if the sun is shining?"

The oil man caught the humor of the query instantly and laughed almost heartily, at the same time padding the reporter on the back in kindly, fatherly fashion.

One of the first men, by the way, to gain an important interview with

Rockefeller was Eugene Walter, who later became famous as a playwright. Walter was working on a Cleveland morning paper some years ago, in his early twenties, and his appearance was so youthful that he could pass for a mere boy.

He crawled over the fence into Forest Hills one afternoon and stroled leisurely about until he came upon the oil man examining some trees.

Walter gave out the impression that he was a boy who had drifted into the place, thinking it was a public park. He showed such a childish interest in everything when told that it all belonged to one man that Rockefeller asked him if he wouldn't like to look about farther.

"Oh, indeed? I would, sir," replied Walter in a McGuffey Reader tone.

So the two strolled about together and Walter was careful not to ask too many questions. Those that he did ask seemed to be prompted only by boyish curiosity.

The future playwright always had a way of saying entertaining things and he interested

such an extent that the oil man sat down with him at the edge of a lily pond and unwittingly gave him one of the first interviews that he had ever given to a newspaper man.

Here is a sample of Rockefeller's capacity for details. A little girl met him at church and said she wished to ask a favor. "I am going to have some friends here from

Kansas City," she told him. "And I want them to see your estate.

Would you mind if I took them

over the grounds?"

The oil man told her in a kindly manner that he would be away.

But that he would speak to Pat

Lynch, the gatekeeper, about her.

And that Lynch would let her in.

The little girl assumed that Rockefeller would forget about the conversation before he left the church, but she stopped at the lodge gate at Forest Hill a few days later to see if she could get in.

Lynch was absent, but his wife inquired: "Are you Miss So-and-

So? Ah, yes, go right in with your friends. Mr. Rockefeller told me just before he left that you would be here and to let you in."

Vain About Estate.

At times Rockefeller exhibits a preference that is almost petty.

For example, a man who once went automobiling with him tells this:

"Instead of waving his guests into a big auto with rich and careless air and letting them seat themselves wherever they wished to, he designated exactly where each person should sit and he himself took the middle of the back seat. Then going through the country, he told the driver exactly where to turn.

Each cross road and never once did he ask his guests if any of them had any preference about where he should go. He impressed me as a fellow who would like to be a good friend but doesn't know how to be.

Occasionally the oil master shows an odd streak of vanity about his possessions. Several people were seated with him at his table at Forest Hill one day and the guests fell the beauties of the big estate. The host had something to say, and instead of waiting for a lull in the conversation, he rapped on the table with his knuckles for order.

like the chief of a lodge. "I just wanted to tell you, gentlemen," he remarked, "that this place doesn't compare with my place at Pouston."

One often hears the query presented: "Is John D. Rockefeller's money real or assumed?"

Those who knew him best will tell you that beyond peradventure he is sincere. He verily believes that the righteous shall prosper.

that he has prospered because he

LABOR BOYCOTT OF U. S. FLEET URGED IN NEW ZEALAND

Newspaper "Dominion,"
Published at Wellington,
However, Says Propaganda Cannot Mar Welcome.

CROWDS VISIT SHIPS AT MELBOURNE

Admiral Magruder Says That Not in 36 Years Has
He Witnessed Such an Ovation.

By the Associated Press.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 3.—The Wellington Labor-Socialists have urged publicly that the American fleet as a fleet be boycotted and the Dunedin Labor Representation Committee has passed a resolution urging all workers to refrain from participating in celebrations being arranged for the forthcoming visit.

The Wellington Dominion, referring to the action taken by the Labor-Socialists, says editorially:

"Communists and Labor-Socialists never appear at less advantage than in dealing with matters of this kind. Their outlook is professedly international, but in practice they seem to delight in attempting to stir up bad blood between nations. This view of the American fleet's visit is taken by a limited number of extremists here and in Australia and is a striking instance in point."

"The wisest minds throughout the British empire and in the United States are agreed that no greater service can be rendered to the cause of world peace and security than by cementing and building up friendship between the English-speaking nations. Assertions that fleets are instruments of capitalism, and a great deal more of similar strain, are so much moonshine."

"When the fleet comes to New Zealand, due prominence no doubt will be given the fact that people of this country desire to live at peace not only with the United States, but with other nations. Our strongest reason for desiring friendship with America is that co-operation between English-speaking nations plainly offers great benefits, not to themselves, but to humanity. Further progress in lifting armaments, for instance, will depend vitally on the ability of the British empire and America to give a strong and united lead, so that every nation may be able to follow."

"The most united communist labor movement will hardly pretend that progress in this direction will be assisted by boycotting the American fleet."

"There is no danger of the welcome given the fleet to this country being marred in any appreciable extent as a result of extremist propaganda. It is possible, however, that this propaganda may occasion a certain amount of mischief by giving rise to misunderstandings which may not be removed completely by even the most authoritative settlements as to the true position."

"None Killed in Football Game of Fleet Disappointment."

By the Associated Press.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 3.—The disbanding of the United States fleet visiting here will proceed for Auckland on Aug. 5.

Some 10,000 persons yesterday witnessed an American football game between teams of the battleships Idaho and Colorado, the former winning 10 to 6.

Some papers commenting on the game, said "Nobody was killed and nobody was injured. It was a disappointing game."

John D. did not put on a sacrosanct expression of grief about the bringing his palms together with fingers pointed upward. Instead, he gave his sense of humor free rein and laughed uproariously, after which he passed the letter round to some of his friends as one of the big jokes of the season.

This is another question often heard: "Is Rockefeller, with all his riches, a happy man?"

The answer is that, taking into consideration the extreme scarcity of absolute vanity about his possessions, several people were seated with him at his table at Forest Hills one day and the guests fell to talking among themselves about the beauties of the big estate. The oil master had something to say, and instead of waiting for a lull in the conversation, he rapped on the table with his knuckles for order, like the chief of a lodge. "I just wanted to tell you, gentlemen," he remarked, "that this place doesn't compare with my place at Pocahontas."

A UNIQUE CHAPTER OF AMERICAN HISTORY :: "The Rise and Fall of Jesse James" By ROBERTUS LOVE

The Northfield Robbery—Citizens Rally to Defense of the Bank and Deadly Amateur Marksmanship Lays Clell Miller and William Stiles Low—The Jameses and Youngers Flee After Killing Two Citizens, but Without Much Loot—The Man Hunt Begins.

CHAPTER XIX.

LET the battle scene shift now from the open street and the square to the interior of the First National Bank of Northfield.

When the three robbers entered the bank they found the bookkeeper, Joseph Lee Heywood, at the cashier's desk, substituting for Cashier G. M. Phillips, who was away on an extended trip. A. E. Bunker, teller, and F. J. Wilcox, assistant bookkeeper, were engaged in routine duties. Only three six-shooters armed robbers and three unarmed employees—were present. There was, to be sure, a ladylike little pistol on a shelf under the teller's counter; but Bunker, luckily for himself, was not in touch with this weapon at the moment of his surprise by the "hands up" command from one of the three who already had man sized six-shooters pointing directly at his head.

Before Bunker was able fully to comprehend the situation the three had climbed over the counter, a makeshift affair not intended for permanent banking use. The man who had uttered the order then coolly notified Bunker and his companions that the purpose of the invasion was to rob the bank.

"And don't any of you fellows holler!" he added. "We've got 40 men outside, and it'll be no use to holler. It'll be dangerous if you do."

He flourished his revolver by way of emphasis. The other two indulged in similar flourishing. Each had his eye on a bank employee.

"Are you the cashier?" the spokesman inquired, turning toward Heywood.

"In the literal sense this was true," Bunker and Wilcox both replied negatively to the same question put in turn. The robber turned back to Heywood, who sat at the cashier's desk.

Threatened With Death.

"I know yours the cashier," he said angrily. "Now you open that safe, damn quick, or I'll blow your head off!"

The door of the vault, in which the safe was visible, stood open. Heywood rushed to the door, dreading the threat of the other man and ignoring the menace of his weapon, arose, walked rapidly to the vault and tried to open it.

But he could not. The heavy door shut he was seized by both Wells and the leader of the robbery, who was the leader of the robbery.

"Unless you open that safe at once, you'll be shot dead!" cried the leader.

"I can't open it—the time lock is on."

"You're lying!"

Repeatedly they demanded that Heywood open the safe. They pulled him back and forth about the vault, cursing him.

"Murder!" Heywood shouted.

He struck him on the head with a heavy revolver. Heywood sank to the floor.

"Let's cut his damn throat!" cried Sam Wells, who opened his pocket-knife and made a slight cut in the neck of the fallen man. At least a semi-throat was Wells of Jackson county. Then the pair caught Heywood under the armpits and dragged him back to the door of the vault, again insisting that he open the safe. From time to time the desperate men turned to Wilcox and Bunker, ordering each in turn to unlock the safe. Both refused to do so.

Ordered Under Counter.

Heywood lay upon the floor near the vault, hardly conscious. Wells bent low and fired a shot close by the acting cashier's head.

The first shot fired inside the bank. This was the first shot fired inside the bank. The bullet passed through a tin box in the vault, containing valuables left by a special depositor.

Bob Younger was keeping watch on Bunker and Wilcox. He made them get down under the counter, on their knees. Bunker thought of the pistol on the shelf. He was edging toward the place where it lay, at a moment when Younger had turned his back. Wells, who seemed to see in every direction at once, devised Bunker's intention. Leaping forward, he seized the pistol, which he stuck into one of his pockets.

"Huh! You couldn't do any harm with this little dinger, anyhow," he said.

Bunker arose to his feet. Bob Younger was on guard again.

"There's money here, somewhere," he said. "Where's the cash?"

On the counter was a box containing some fractional currency. The teller pointed to this. Drawing from under his linen duster the inevitable wheelbarrow, Younger seized the box, and the faster craft will depart on Thursday.

When the U. S. S. Richmond sails it will carry the Governor of Victoria, who will travel as the guest of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder while the Governor visits Tasmania. Commenting on the warmth of the reception at Melbourne, Rear Admiral Magruder said in his 36 years of naval life he has never witnessed any ovation approaching it.

Manning stepped around the corner to reload. The breech-lever jammed. The merchant ran into his store, got a ramrod, ejected the empty shell. Returning to the street corner, he fired at one of the robbers who was near the door of the bank. The bullet struck a post and glanced off, finding for second target Cole Younger and inflicting one of the several wounds which the biggest of the bandits received that day. Cole Younger was such a stalwart that he was hard to miss. Physically, at any rate, Cole was not cut out for a bullet-investing freebooter; there was too much of him.

The coolheaded Manning reloaded, the ejecting lever working all right again. Glancing around the corner of the building, he saw William Stiles, sole Minnesotan of the outfit, sitting in saddle about 30 yards away. Manning was taking no pot shots. He intended that every bullet should count. "Tally!" was the song of his missiles. So deliberate was the man in drawing a bead on Stiles that some fellow townsmen standing not far away grew impatient, almost indignant.

"Get him!" get him! Shoot, man, shoot!" they urged.

Manning took his time. Stiles evidently was posted there on sentry duty; his horse was at a standstill. The merchant's bullet went through the bandit's neck, and he fell. "Bill Chadwell" of several desperate forays cashed in at last, in his old home county. Relieved of his burden, Stiles' horse ran gaily to a lively stable, the subsequent proceedings interesting him no more. The horse was looking for hay. Manning stepped back, reloaded, stepped forward, and watched his chance to get another outlaw.

Wheeler was back at his window, Manning again out in the open. But the street showed so many citizens in the wake of the retreating raiders that neither of the marksmen risked another shot. Church bells had been set ringing. The big bell in the cupola of Carleton College, of which institution the slain Heywood was treasurer, was clanging resonantly. From all points in the little city people were gathering in Bridge Square. Some were inspecting the bodies of Stiles and Miller. Others had entered the bank and were looking after the body of Heywood, whose devotion to duty had cost him life. Still others, a considerable group, were preparing to mount horses and pursue the survivors. They felt that at least they should be able to capture or kill Cole and Bob Younger, taking into consideration the fact that they had escaped. Though the shattered window panes and the bullets imbedded in posts and walls proved—if such proof were needed—that the bandits had not been firing blank cartridges, no single member of the citizens' impromptu shooting force had been hit. The professional dead shots had failed miserably, the amateur sharpshooters had carried off all the honors of the day.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

High Cost of Courtship.

THE new national commission to inquire into the reason for the great increase in crime will, of course, find many causes; but there is one they should not overlook, and that is the high cost of courtship.

When our millions of young men returned from the war they were welcomed enthusiastically by their sweethearts and other friends of the fair sex; but they soon found that in order to remain in their good graces they must have a car to take them out and entertain them. Many of the boys who had remained at home, had by reason of their liberal wages during the war, been able to buy a car, and thus had almost a monopoly of the ladies' attention.

Here was a problem for the erstwhile war hero. It was no car, no girl, and also usually no job either. Some of them tried the doubtful experiment of borrowing a car when the owner wasn't looking, but even if they obtained one in this underhand fashion they discovered it was an expensive article to maintain, so that many threw caution to the winds and ventured into the bold game, as the easiest way to get a car.

The young men who have arrived at the courtship age since the war have found themselves face to face with the same problem, and many have resorted to the same expedient. In England and France the auto is not in such universal use as it is here. There only the well-to-do class have them, so that a car is not the necessary adjunct to courtship as it is with us, which probably explains why crimes against property have not mounted to such alarming heights over there. Our young men might have been content to keep in the straight and narrow path, even though it led to go hungry, but not many of them were satisfied to sit idly by and submit to being deprived of their girls.

More Planet Lore.

DON'T forget the little red planet Mercury just above the sunset. As said in the Post-Dispatch, April 26, this little planet will cause in the entire month of AUGUST showers or cool days or nights to be scattered between the very hot days. It starts toward us at 10 a. m. July 25. When Mercury comes back again it will start our wintry spells just before Thanksgiving day. Then Venus in the same position will cause the prettiest planet, and the brightest star now seen in the western sky. Venus is the only planet at the present time that has neither winter nor summer.

Let Bryan Rest in Peace.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT does the Post-Dispatch hold against Mr. Bryan? Throughout the duration of the Scopes trial numerous editorials appeared in your paper denouncing and ridiculing Mr. Bryan, the "Mentor," and "Bryan, the Right." He is a man who read them all and at each instance I vowed to discontinue reading the Post-Dispatch. However, I like to read the Post-Dispatch because it has always seemed such a fair paper.

Now, Mr. Bryan is dead. Nevertheless we must still read editorials such as the one in the issue of July 28, which questions the estimate put upon his services as a public man. The article further states that Mr. Bryan was a "biting fighter within the Presbyterian Church, and that he would have divided the whole nation into hostile factions on a question of religious tolerance. His many editors cannot be thankful that it is only an editor's opinion that is being expressed."

"The evil that men do lives after them; The good is oft interred with their bones; His multitude of excellent qualities far overshadows his few shortcomings. Since he is dead, let him rest in peace."

Fruits of Prohibition.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN your last Sunday edition a bold correspondent, signing himself "America," defends prohibition. If by using this name, he intends to represent the average American citizen, or the majority of our population, it must be branded as a misrepresentation. We know by this time that such efforts to make a nation virtuous by law are a failure. Corruption has been one of the most conspicuous consequences, corruption by wholesale even in the ranks of prohibition agents, as was recently stated by the head office in Washington. Drinking of vile stuff has increased. Crime, which was to be diminished, has filled the prisons to such an extent that the Federal authorities have in many states asked the local prisons for accommodation.

Such are the consequences of trying to promote virtue by law. But our fanatics do not care whether they make us Americans the laughing stock of the civilized world.

When will we wake up and protest against these "hellers than thou" ignoramus calling themselves the representatives of the American citizen?

J. TOENSELDT.

A NEW FORM OF BORING.

"Boring from within" has usually connoted the efforts of progressive or radical Republicans to get control of the party machinery. In particular, it was used to describe the activities of the late Senator La Follette and his co-workers. Senator Norris of Nebraska, one of the most effective of these borers, now finds a new use for the phrase. The Coolidge system of "packing" various Government commissions with reactionaries appeals to the insurgent Senator as "the destruction of the intent of the law by a process of boring from within."

"What good," asks Norris, "does it do to pass laws if the President is going to appoint men to administer them who have no sympathy with them? It is, in effect, the repeal of statute by executive action."

Norris is to be congratulated on this pat statement of an issue that has been created by the recent appointments of the President to the Tariff Commission, the Trade Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission. In all these appointments the President has taken out insurance against any expression of policy conflicting with his own views. He has given the Tariff Commission a safe majority in favor of the high protectionist principle. To fill a vacancy on the Interstate Commerce Commission, a quasi-judicial body with far-reaching powers, he appointed a man whose background of experience would indicate a strong sympathy with the big-business viewpoint.

As a member of the Trade Commission he named William E. Humphrey, who was known when a member of Congress as one of the most reactionary members of that body. With the prestige of the President's backing, Humphrey has already been able to change the procedure of the Trade Commission in such a way as to deprive it of much of its terror for those who engage in questionable business practice.

It is to the "packing" of the Trade Commission that Norris and his fellow progressives especially object. That an effort will be made to abolish the commission in the next Congress appears to be certain. "If we are going to let the big fellows eat the little ones up," inquires Norris, "why not let them do it directly without burdening the taxpayers with the expense of selecting some reactionary men to give approval to the devouring process?"

Doubtless the reactionaries, if any deign to speak, will casually wave the Norris charges with the reply that he is "seeing things." That is the stock reply of those in power when any doubter dares question the benevolence of their purposes. Norris will be branded as an "agitator," and the people will be told to keep their minds on the economy program of Mr. Coolidge.

We are inclined to think, however, that in the present instance the Nebraska Senator, a man of great pungency and undoubted sincerity, has got hold of an issue that will cause the administration some unpleasant moments.

Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania wants to season the World Court plan all over again.

THE POLICE "MERIT SYSTEM" SCRAPPED.

After a period of deliberation, the Police Board, with the concurrence of Chief of Detectives Kaiser, has wisely discarded the Chief's proposed plan of grading his men according to the number of "merit marks" scored for various classes of arrests. In this action the Board has come to the view expressed by the Post-Dispatch, which has objected especially to the award of "points" to detectives for bringing in "suspects" and ex-convicts, even though the arrests might later prove to have been unwarranted.

The board now voices the common-sense opinion that "such a system is impracticable and would not give us a true test of an officer's ability." It adds the sane conclusion that "the best test of a man's record for promotion must be his general record and adaptability for higher office."

All who participated in this decision, including the Chief of Detectives, are to be felicitated. Congratulations are also due to the citizens of St. Louis, all of whom were potential "suspects" under the point system, on the lifting of the bounty from their heads.

DEBAUCH NOT OUR PIGEONS.

First the MacMillan expedition feeds pigeons chewing tobacco—a practice severely condemned in these columns—and now it is recommended that the city give whisky to the city hall pigeons. The suggestion comes from Albert Diekmeyer, poultry expert, who argues that the best way to capture pigeons is not to sprinkle salt on their tails, but to wet their whistles with some good prewar stuff.

Such debauchery should not be countenanced by the city authorities. If our city hall pigeons must die let them die like pigeons, sober and unafraid. Better the firing squad for a pigeon, the straightforward, pigeon-like way to die, than that he should be trapped by foul liquor. Better a short shrift of wrong necks for these pigeons than to see them, tipsy and hilarious, facing doom. Nor is it absolutely certain that Expert Diekmeyer's theory would be practicable. Who is there to say that a pigeon intoxicated will walk into a trap?

Filled with good liquor, we think, these pigeons would thrill to the warmth of life and the merriment of the world. Scorning the traps set for them they would use the caves of the city hall for boulevard. Rollicking along with a carefree hic they would step grandly into space and try their luck with tail spins, nose dives and loops. No birds in the air would be happier than they, but certainly they would not be prepared to die. Send sober, devout pigeons to the stew pot. To intoxicate our city hall pigeons and then slay them while "yet in love with life and raptured with the world" would be infamous. And, besides, it would be illegal.

JAPAN'S HUMAN PROBLEM.

The United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce has compiled facts with reference to Japanese developments which are of prime interest to the student of history, politics and sociology. Moreover, they are interesting to every American citizen as bearing possibly on peace in the Pacific and our own destiny.

The bureau finds that Japanese industrial development is such as eventually to close the field of American industrial export to the Island Empire. It finds that the entire industrial and commercial structure of Japan has been transformed along western lines. It finds that a vast national industrial machine of superefficiency is being built up to make Japan industrially independent.

At this point the political problem becomes dominant. What will it avail Japan to become industrially independent when she cannot grow her own food? The boundaries of the island remain fixed but a great moral force not so the population. What will Japan do to remove her geographical limitation or to get along without removing it? Furthermore, to what degree can the Japanese industrial population be mechanized and held under the whip of efficiency? Will the natural human passion for individuality and freedom never assert itself? Commerce, perhaps, is not interested in that phase. It is of supreme concern to the student of the awakening Orient.

THE VIGILANTE CRAZE.

As a reaction to the wave of banditry, the vigilante craze is sweeping the country. In New York, the furriers, who have suffered great and steady losses from robbers, have organized a special guard of their own of "men who can shoot straight." In Chicago, bankers have gone even farther, offering a bonus of $2500 to any vigilante who can bring in a dead bandit. These groups apparently have ceased to rely upon regular police protection, and are taking matters into their own hands.

New York jewelers, whose insurance rates have increased enormously during the past year, held a meeting recently to discuss:

We cannot endure any longer the danger of losing our lives and property; therefore, in the name of our murdered brother jewelers, in the name of their widows and orphans, we request every business man and organization to combine with us and as a single united body demand necessary protection which the Government should provide for us as citizens.

This is strong language, and unless it brings results it would not be hard to imagine the jewelers following the lead of other groups and establishing a private police guard.

New York's Police Commissioner is quoted as saying the proposal to employ a force of straight-shooting men to protect the furriers that it is "not only good but necessary."

Thus he gives emphasis to a movement which is nearly as menacing as the crime wave which it seeks to allay. With hordes of special private gunmen roaming our streets in search of other gunmen who have prices on their heads, what would our big cities be like? If every outraged group of merchants and bankers is permitted and even encouraged to hire thugs to kill other thugs, we shall have a condition approaching anarchy.

Many times in this country have we seen the vigilante idea in operation, and the reigns of terror which have resulted are an eternal warning against repeating the experiment. Nor is a body of armed men formed to protect New York furriers any different in principle from the vigilantes who once held forth on the frontier. That they should be considered at all is a rebuke to the police and to all orderly processes of government.

MISSOURI'S NEGLECTED WAR MEMORIAL.

A recent dispatch from Paris to the Chicago Tribune calls attention to the condition of the various memorials and cemeteries for America's soldiers who died in the World War. The correspondent says that there is sad evidence of neglect of the monuments in France and Belgium. Among other things:

At Cheppy, in the Arzonne, is the monument erected by the State of Missouri in memory of the Thirty-fifth Division, National Guard, from Missouri and Kansas. It cost the State more than $40,000.

Its condition illustrates the disfigurement which such beautiful structures may undergo when their surroundings and approaches are not properly cared for. The mound upon which it stands is covered with brush and growth; the approaching stairway, imbedded in the mound, is covered with weeds and grass; cheap wooden posts, with barbed wire stretched between them in the foreground, are entirely out of keeping with the fine conception.

Plans have been made for three large, outstanding monuments, each costing more than $300,000, to the memory of those Americans who died in the World War. They will commemorate the valor of those who died at Chateau-Thierry, at Meuse-Argonne and at St. Mihiel. We are not informed as to whether it is the intention to have these large monuments take the place of those now standing. However this may be, Missouri should not longer permit the news to go out that a memorial to her war dead lies in a neglected condition, for the astonishment and pity of visitors. Let it not be said that Missouri has so soon forgotten the boys who, as members of her National Guard, represented the State and the nation, and by their sacrifice helped to end the most dreadful and destructive war in history.

LORD DARLING'S METHOD.

Lord Darling has introduced into the House of Lords a bill which "regulate the publication of reports of judicial proceedings in such a manner as to prevent injury to public morals."

This is the outcome of several particularly scandalous suits involving persons of high prominence, such as the Indian potentate, Mr. "A," the Dennistons, the widow of Lord Carnarvon, and latterly the former Marchioness Conyngham, who was sued for divorce by her husband, Alfred Baldwin Raper, former M. P.

If possible, the Conyngham-Raper affair seems to have been even more productive of morbid and ugly details than its predecessors, which were certainly not behind-hand in their content of filth.

Lord Darling, like a host of decent butlers, second parlor maids, shopkeepers and laborers throughout Great Britain, is shocked at the doings of high English life as disclosed by the court proceedings. So Lord Darling is out to save the butlers, second parlor maids, etc., from corruption.

His motives are worthy, but his method indicates that he has been infected with that particular form of Americanism which prescribes a new law for every ill. Assuming that the private doings of some members of British high life are anything but edifying or uplifting, the quickest way to produce a change for the better, or at least to produce greater discretion, is to let all these doings in public.

The fundamental trouble in Great Britain is not the danger of corrupting the people, but the actual corruption of certain people mostly in the upper stratum. The best solution would be to cure the latter.

Then the former will take care of itself. Publicity may or may not cause a few to emulate their social superiors, but it will assure the fast set that they will not escape public exposure and censure. Publicity is a great moral force.

SONG OF THANKSGIVING.

Are we not happier, wouldn't you say,
Having a task to do day after day?

Think of the idler who worries life through Simply because he has nothing to do.

There was the cave man, unfortunate wight,
His lot to do nothing, his weakness to fight.

And what of the chief of the feudal estate,
Who loafed between battles—good Lord, what a fate!

So are we not happier, honest and true,
Having a definite something to do?

Think of the mischief we happily miss
For no other reason whatever than this:

They make of this life nothing else than a mess
Whose fortune is more or whose fortune is less.

They halt at the last when with even at trust,
And ask of us sadly, "What was it we missed?"

Or riches or poverty, this then is true,
We cannot be happy with nothing to do.

The Democratic organization, which is without a newspaper in most communities, hopes to establish one in Kansas City. We don't see much of a chance for it. A newspaper conforming to the diverse demands of the Democratic organization in any community wouldn't be a newspaper at all. It would be a journalistic crazy quilt, just as the Democratic party is a political crazy quilt.

The French ought to be happy again. They have a war on. It is not the sort of war the French like best—that is one in which they seem to be the under dog and can therefore lustily howl for help; but not even France, which has been fighting ever since Julius Caesar observed that the French are spilling for a fight, can always pick out just the kind of a war she wants.

Someone says that Mr. Bryan will be remembered longer as a prohibitionist, but most of us would like to remember him more kindly than that.

St. Louis is always a great place for some successful baseball pitcher to shine in. He has the proper contrast.

AN ENCORE ON THE FORD.

No cop in the open.
No cop in the street.
A beary-eyed silver
Betook to its feet.
It rose with determin-
It garded some oil.
It swallowed some water,
And set out to boil.
At each bumpy bump,
It shivered and rattled,
And shook with a thump.
Its bearings were loosened,
Its tires were all gone,
And such were its troubles,
It climbed up a lawn.
Its owner dismounted,
And called up the cops
To come with a mower,
And harvest the crops.

L. A. HAMILTON.

A ST. LOUISIAN ABROAD.

Spent an evening with a naturalist, a hunter of moths. We sat behind the brilliant beam of an acetylene lamp. A white sheet on the floor of a meadow. The night came on and so did the moths (there are 800 varieties). Each has its individuality, its peculiarity, its personal interest and attraction like the members of a club. "Spec-tacle" or "Garden Carpet" come along, then "Burnished Brass" comes in and hanges up his hat, as it were; then a big bug, a rare specimen—one of the notables. Special accommodation is provided—a pill box for the gentleman. The captive is carefully tabulated and described, the time of night made a note of, temperature, atmospheric conditions and place of capture, what blossoms were out at the time, etc. Never thought one could have so much fun out of a corner of a garden. Went to the Falls of Lodore, made famous by Stourhey. Very little of the original "rubbish" and "rags" remains. An American at the roadside carefully scanning his guide book, in despair asks a passerby "Where are the Falls of Lodore, please?" "Why, mon! You're sittin' on 'em!" said the native.

Crews, a large railroad center, has taken a long step forward. Recognizing the value of beauty as a community asset and that a city is a place to inhabit and enjoy and not an ugly mart of commerce from which one makes a daily escape to almost as ugly a residential suburb, it has gone in for municipally built homes for working men. A recently completed and fully occupied section has the aspect of a park, with curving roads, lawns, and flower gardens in front, vegetable gardens in rear and playgrounds for children at intervals. Built of brick and concrete in attractive design, they have six rooms and bath with the usual modern conveniences and rent for the unbelievably low price of $15 per month. What a contrast to the older sections of notorious, depressing, drab, box-like tenements in endless rows, built with the single purpose of creating the most renting space for the least money! Visiting in some of the new houses I was much impressed by the occupants' pride of possession. No ash heaps. No litter in all the section. Cleanliness, order, colorful gardens, the dignity and privacy of home. A new level for many a family that had known only a tenement. And all this in a land where unemployment and its terrible consequences are bitter problems.

Permit a word of enthusiasm for your fine comment on Mestrovic's wood-carving of "Christ and the Money Changers" at the Art Museum. You catch admirably the burning spirit of that masterly work. The flame it kindles bursts forth most fittingly in your own satire. There is not enough such indignation in the world. The same Christ who could turn the other cheek could also use the lash.

Announcement that speeders on the St. Charles cement road are now being shot above that getting the good roads built doesn't necessarily mean that we are to be any happier than we used to be.

Since it couldn't be that, what's likely did lose was teeth.

FOUR NATIONS WORRYING ABOUT COAL.

From the New York World.

If we are troubled with a coal problem at least we have company. Most of Europe is in the same fix. In England the coal situation becomes more acute every day and only a government subsidy against a strike which would have paralyzed the industry. The problem is not yet solved; overhauls all other domestic issues and has hatched a mare's nest of promises and remedies more fantastic than any we have ever beheld. In Germany a subsidy against a strike which would have paralyzed the industry. The problem is not yet solved; overhauls all other domestic issues and has hatched a mare's nest of promises and remedies more fantastic than any we have ever beheld. In Germany a subsidy against a strike which would have paralyzed the industry. The problem is not yet solved; overhauls all other domestic issues and has hatched a mare's nest of promises and remedies more fantastic than any we have ever beheld.

Wherever it is mined coal wrecks the gears of industry. It is the pervasive scourge of economics. Where it enters in its ordinary principles twist about and men themselves coming back. It is pronounced, yet it is a public utility. It is a problem for statesmen, yet statesmen hardly dare touch it. It cannot walk on its own legs, yet you cannot give it a crutch. It desperately seeks markets, yet it grows in strikes. It is not perishable, yet it must be stored. No public policy seems adequate to cover it; wrestling with it is like playing at the Queen's croquet party. You think you have everything all put, the flamingo straightened out, the hedgehog in a neat ball. And as you prepare to saddle the masterly beast that will set things right for all time, something goes wrong. The flamingo crooks its neck and cocks a bleary eye at you, the hedgehog runs away and all is confusion again. Are we ever going to set up this industry on a back that works? Does it belong to us, the nation, or the operators, or the miners, or whom? If we put our minds to the problem, possibly we might get somewhere.

ROBINS AND REASON.

From the Detroit News.

I n Michigan a box car was held up the other day because a robin had built its nest in the doorway, and the law prevents destruction of a robin's nest. In Kansas City a pair of robins nested in a school that was under construction, holding up completion of the building.

If these robins had been men, they would have been booted off the premises long ago. They would be trespassers. They would not be allowed to plead ignorance of the law. But being robins, they got away with it.

Presently they will fly south, where robins are considered good eating, and where they hang around box cars and public buildings at their peril.

It seems a bit foolish to let robins interfere with the work of men. But people stand up for robins, and feed them when house them, are not the sort that stop a whole species of the animal kingdom, or for war when some irresponsible foreigner steps on Uncle Sam's toes.

$30,000 EARRINGS REPORTED

Stolen in Europe—Had Worn Gems When Presented at Leading Courts in Europe.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Mystery surrounds the theft of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's $30,000 earrings which she has worn when presented at the leading courts of Europe.

The earrings received here merely report the theft of the gems, the inference being that they were taken by thieves while Mrs. Vanderbilt and her daughter, Grace, were traveling from Prague to Marienbad, Czechoslovakia, to take the cure.

The theft seems to have occurred soon after the sudden disappearance of Gen. Vanderbilt to return to America. He sailed for New York from Naples, and his wife and daughter proceeded overland to Marienbad.

NEW FILMS

By NIE.

THE widely heralded picture "The Lost World," which is at the Grand Central, Lyric Sky-dome and Capitol this week, proves to be an amazing bit of trick photography, a mechanical marvel, but surrounded by a plot so absurd at times that many of the scenes which are meant to be tragic pass for comedy and bring laughs instead of thrills. Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Beulah Love and Lloyd Hughes, excellent actors, do the best they can with their impossible parts, but the honors really go to the splendidly constructed pre-historic monsters which are shown in startlingly lifelike actions and to a little monkey who is very much alive. The movie play, taken from Conan Doyle's story of the same name, concerns a party of explorers who go up the Amazon River looking for the gigantic animals of a million years ago which are said to have escaped the flood and the ravages of time and are reported to be living on a high plateau far in the interior of South America.

The intrepid explorers find what they are looking for—great droves of monsters larger than the Railway Exchange Building. These are shown in the film battling each other to the death and engaged in other innocent pleasures of pre-historic days. Aided by a friendly volcano and a forest fire, the explorers capture one of the monsters—we are under the impression that it was a man-eating ventriloquist or some such horrible animal, although we are not perfectly sure of that—and carry it back to London. There the huge ventriloquist, or maybe it was a rhinoceros, escapes and, after upsetting a block or two of business buildings, he crashes through London Bridge and sets sail for his old home in South America. The picture is entirely too long, but it is worth seeing, for it gives one a good idea of what sort of beasts infested the earth millions of years ago.

Enter a New Vamp.

HOW a woman without a soul and with her dresses cut very low in the back can come between good.

two men who never said a cross word to one another during a friendship which antedated the first reel of the picture is alluringly told in "Havoc," at the Kings and Rivoli. Margaret Livingston is the vamp who wrecks men and causes close friends to bite each other in anger and George O'Brien, Walter McGrail and David Butler are among the marks who fall for her stuff. "Havoc" is a good picture of its type and Miss Livingston does a lot of plain and fancy vamping in a pleasing—if you can call it that—way.

A Dog Thriller.

CLARA BOW, with long hair that miter well strike terror in the heart of any calloused flapper, shares honors with the dog, Thunder, in "Black Lightning," at the Delmonte this week. The story is one of mountain feuds, love, jealousy and free and easy shooting. Thunder works hard and earnestly to his climax—the destruction of the villain in death grips with his master. The cast includes Joe Butterworth, the freckle-faced boy star, Howard Austin. There is also a comedy and a stage number.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

FOUR NATIONS WORRYING ABOUT COAL.

From the New York World.

IF we are troubled with a coal problem, at least we have company. Most of Europe is in the same fix. In England the coal situation becomes more acute every day and only a government subsidy averted a strike which would have paralyzed all industry. The problem of the coal shortage is not yet solved. The coal situation in Germany is not yet solved. The coal situation in France is not yet solved. The coal situation in Italy is not yet solved. The coal situation in the United States is not yet solved. The coal situation in the world is not yet solved.

Wherever it is mined coal wrecks the gears of industry. It is the pervasive evil of such economies. Where it enters in, all ordinary principles twist about and meet themselves coming back. It is privately produced, yet it is a public utility. It is a problem for statesmen, yet statesmen hardly dare touch it. It cannot walk on its own legs, yet you cannot give it a crutch. It desperately seeks markets, yet it grows fat on strikes. It is not perishable, yet it cannot be stored. No public policy seems adequate to cover it; wrestling with it is like playing at the Queen's croquet party. You think you have everything all put, the flamingo straightened out, the hedgehog in a neat ball. And as you prepare to deliver the mastery blow that will set things right for all time, something goes wrong. The flamingo crouks its neck and cocks a bleary eye at you, the hedgehog runs away, and all is confusion again. Are we ever going to set up this industry on a basis that will work? Or does it belong to the nation, or the operators, or the miners, or whom? If we put our minds to the problem, possibly we might get somewhere.

ROBINS AND REASON.

From the Detroit News.

IN Michigan a box car was held up for a day because a robin had built its nest in the doorway, and the law prevents destruction of a robin's nest. In Kansas City a pair of robins nested in a school that was under construction, holding up completion of the building.

If these robins had been men, they would have been booted off the premises quickly enough. They would be trespassers. They would not be allowed to plead ignorance of the law. But being robins, they got away with it.

Presently they will fly south, where a robin is considered good eating, and where it hangs around box cars and public schools at its peril.

It seems a bit foolish to let robins interfere with the work of men. But people who stand up for robins, and feed them and house them, are not the sort that wipe out whole species of the animal kingdom, or for war when some irresponsible foreigner steps on Uncle Sam's toes.

machine so vast that it has done much and can do a great deal more to insure America's commercial supremacy among the nations of the world, but instead of thanking me the public strives to tear down my structure."

Often Hums and Sings.

John D. Rockefeller has been surprised, disappointed, annoyed, vexed, irritated, grieved, that the American public has not risen as one man to build a Broddingnagian monument in his honor. But there is no denying that he derived a great deal of pleasure in the contemplation of his achievements. He is far from being a melancholy spirit.

When riding through the country in an automobile with three or four close friends he often hums and sings. Furthermore, one of the most persistent fallacies concerning Rockefeller is the ill health that popular impression has pursuing him and robbing him of the pleas-

HIGH-BLOOD PRESSURE

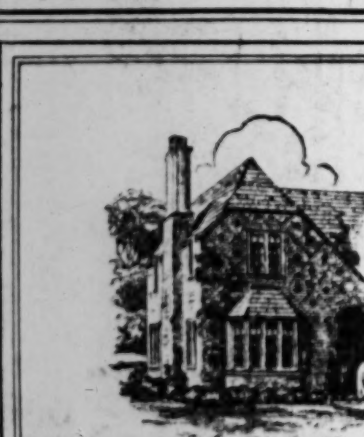

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It to Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear.

Thousands who have dizzy spells, sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, pains in the head and impaired energy have been told by physicians or insurance examiners that they have high blood pressure. The serious results are well enough known to check it at once. High blood pressure caused by overtaxing the heart often brings on Bright's Disease, apoplexy and sudden death. Norma reduces high blood pressure to normal. Orates one bottle will do it. Many have no need of it. It is a doctor's prescription that's harmless and is as much used by women at the changing time of life who usually have blood pressure above normal. Write Wilson and Judge 4 South Dixie Street.

TRY LEMON JUICE TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which is a cream, will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

ures of his great possessions. As a matter of fact, if he had such terribly poor health how could he be along toward ninety years old? Many younger men might like to exchange states of health with him. He doesn't have any stomach trouble worth mentioning and, according to a physician friend, is "just the type of man that might live to be a hundred years old."

Looking back over the career of Rockefeller and considering it from his boyhood to the present, one must note the singular absence of positive qualities in his makeup. Whatever it is in him that has enabled him to amass millions is too subtle a quality for the character analyst to lay hold of. Put out of your mind for the moment the consideration of his past achievements strip him of the illusion of the great wealth that surrounds him, and the personality of John D. Rockefeller is colorless. From the time he was a boy there has been little about him that stood out. That was true when he was in school and it is true now.

"A Goody-Goody as Boy."

A Cleveland manufacturer, who sat next to the future richest man in school back in their early teens and is a close friend of the Rockefeller family today—for which reason he desires that his name be not quoted here—once told me: "I never knew a boy having less of what you would call personality. Yet he was the same temperamental then that he is today—a poor mixer, having little to say, taking small part in the activities and interests of his fellows. He had the same serious face he has today and was regarded as more or less of a goody-goody."

"The boys all called him 'Deacon.' He invariably went right home after school, never remaining to join in any sports or games. I do not recall ever seeing 'Deacon' with another boy and, in fact, I do not remember seeing him at all after school hours. He was a conscientious chap about his lessons. I remember him, always keeping his work up, but never showing any flashes of brilliancy. There was a great difference between him and Mark Hanna, for example. Mark also was in our class and showed even then that he was a born leader, and he was expected to make good some day; but there were no such prophecies about John."

"There was another boy in the class whom we all regarded as the show boy of the school. Whenever there was company the teacher would invariably call on that boy to do a hard-and-boiled problem, or show by algebra how long it would take two men to do a piece of work that 11 men could do in six days and a half. He knew offhand the name of the longest river in the world and could define grammar word for word as it was in the book. He could write a good hand, too—as good as the teacher."

"All of which shows how poorly one can base a forecast of a boy's future on his school days. I haven't heard of that star pupil of our class for a number of years, but the last time I saw him he was still driving a grocery wagon. And John—well, he's John D. Rockefeller."

Thought his case was hopeless Resinol cleared away pimples in a week

Lexington, Mass., March 5.—"I had been suffering from shaving pimples on my neck for years and, I believe, had tried everything under the sun for them without avail. One day on a friend's advice, I purchased some of your Resinol Ointment and was astonished at the quick results. After a week's constant use, the pimples disappeared completely, leaving the skin clear and fresh. I had thought my case was hopeless, so you can readily see why I was overjoyed at this cure! WOMAN ENDS LIFE WITH GAS

Had Engaged in Dispute With Former Husband.
Mrs. Grace Scott, 40 years old, of 5024 Enright avenue died at her home at 2:50 p. m. yesterday from gas poisoning following a dispute with Constantine Jannopole, 39, a waiter, from whom she was divorced last March.

Jannopole told police that he and his former wife had come to St. Louis two weeks ago following a reconciliation. Yesterday they disagreed and he later found her sitting before a gas stove with her head in the oven and the jets open. She died shortly after a physician arrived.

GERMANS PLAN POLAR FLIGHT IN HUGE DIRIGIBLE

Craft Larger Than the Los Angeles and Designed to Stay in Air Four Days Is Plan of Hugo Eckener.

By SAMUEL EPEWACK.
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
BERLIN, Aug. 3.—The North Pole will be explored, photographed and robbed of its privacy within two years. The days of its splendid isolation are gone.

Within two years a giant Zeppelin, a monstrous whale of the air, will float casually up to the Pole and take possession. Scientists and photographers will merge from their warm cabins to record the character of the frozen wastes. They will camp in the land of white mystery and treat the dreaded Pole as a clinical problem.

And the Zeppelin, known as the harbinger of horror, will have justified itself as an instrument of peace.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, head of the Zeppelin plant in Friedrichshafen; Fridtjof of Nansen, Nestor of North Pole explorers; Capt. Bruns, one of Germany's veteran pilots and the thwarted Amundsen may be among the attacking hosts. Together with the new International Arctic Association, organized here in Berlin, they have mapped out to the last detail this spectacular venture.

There is, at present, only one foreseen obstacle: Germany cannot build giant airships without special permission from the Ambassadors' Council. For the expedition an airship larger than the ZR-3 is necessary, and the French may object that the Zeppelin could be used for war once its task at the Pole was done.

Expect League's Aid.

Germany possesses the only plant in the world which can turn out quickly and cheaply a Zeppelin large enough for the undertaking. Scientists here hope that Dr. Nansen, Norway's representative to the League of Nations, will be able to exert sufficient pressure to obtain permission for the building of the ship.

To insure the success of the expedition the Zeppelin must hold 105,000 cubic meters of gas. The ZR-3—now the Los Angeles—holds 12,000 cubic meters. Tentative plans call for a Zeppelin from 720 to 750 feet long, equipped with five Maybach motors generating 2000 horsepower. Its average speed would be about 65 miles an hour, with a maximum of perhaps 80 miles.

Only this type of ship, German scientists are convinced, can make the trip to the Pole and stay there. Amundsen has proven the futility of the airplane for the undertaking. The projected Zeppelin would be able to keep the air for at least five days, which would permit a repeated crossing of the Pole and a thorough exploration of the hitherto unknown districts. With favorable wind and weather it would be able to land on ice or water without any serious loss of gas; if losses of gas were sustained, this could be compensated by letting out water ballast.

Laboratory to Be Complete.

At the most a dozen scientists will accompany the expedition, and the ship's crew will consist of 20. The inside of the Zeppelin will be fitted out as a scientific laboratory, with all necessary instruments.

Radio equipment will enable the determination at any given moment of the exact position of the ship. Only in two small polar districts, and those in regions already known and presenting no dangers will the greatest possible angle to radio messages be less than 80 degrees necessary for ascertaining the position of the ship. Everywhere else the angle will be greater. This is extremely important because the ordinary compass is useless at the pole; it merely swings from point to point. Nor is the gyroscopic compass of much more value, since it starts pointing heavenwards as the North Pole is approached and theoretically should point squarely at the zenith of the pole.

May Fly in June, 1927.
If work can be started on the Zeppelin this fall it would be ready for trial flights in the winter of 1927 and for the polar flight in June of the most favorable month. The ship will cost about $2,000,000 and perhaps $500,000 more for equipment. Most of the money will be raised in Germany. It is believed the American Zeppelin company would be willing to assist. Norway and probably England will contribute as well.

Capt. Bruns, Zeppelin pilot, was the first to propose the expedition. He enlisted the aid of Dr. Eckener, Dr. Nansen and various German scientists. He explained to the correspondent:

"For the purpose of orientation we need at least four radio stations. One of these could properly be at Nome, in Alaska; another at Cape Pherson, a third on Spitzbergen and the fourth possibly at Dickson Harbor, at the mouth of the Yenesei River. Moreover, we should have mooring masts at all these four points.

"Our plan contemplates," he continued, "an equipment which would give us a 1000 to 1 chance of succeeding. Of course, unforeseen accidents might happen. Even a Titanic can strike an iceberg, and there is no reason to believe that the world's axis sticks up out of the earth so as to interfere with us.

In addition to the necessary scientific equipment we should carry folding boats, sledges, provisions for 90 days, and also guns and ammunition, so that we could replenish our stocks of food if we were compelled to return afoot.

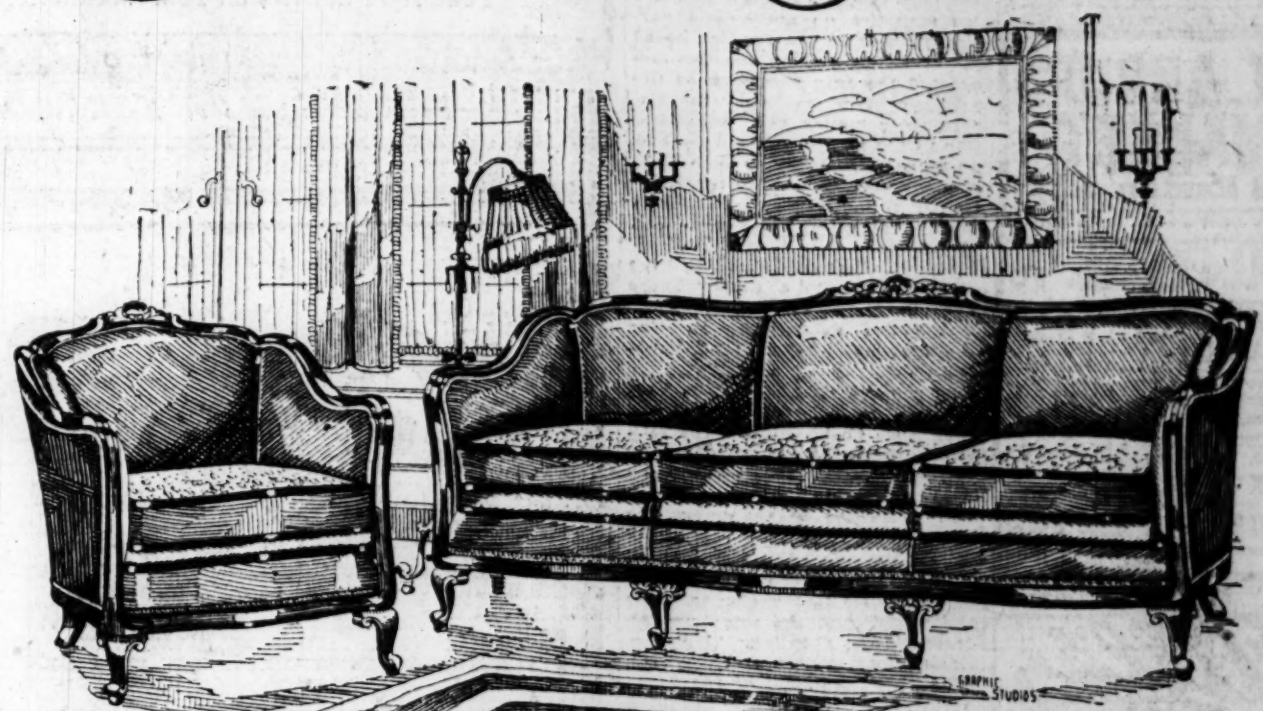

"The ability to keep the air five days would permit us not merely to fly over the Pole more than once and make observations from above, but also to land there and make soundings. The Zeppelin's cabin will be heated, although there are no very low temperatures at the Pole in June."

"Could not very low temperatures affect the motors?" Capt. Bruns was asked.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" is Far Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.

THREE IN AUTO KILLED BY ROBBER

Denver Holdup Man Fires When Woman in Car Screams as He Demands Valuables.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Aug. 3.—Two young women and a man were shot and killed here late last night by a robber when he attempted to rob them while they were riding in an automobile. Another youth was shot through the arm.

Miss Marie McCormick, 25, was killed instantly, while her sister, Mrs. Julia Stearns, 23, and Fred Funkner, 24, died while being taken to a hospital. Carl Perry, 25, is in a critical condition at the general hospital.

The robber, who is believed to be the man that has recently focused his activities on automobile parties, jumped on the running board of the slow moving machine and ordered the four occupants at the points of two revolvers to turn over their money and valuables. One of the men told him they had no money. The robber then fired into the machine several times, instantly killing Miss McCormick and fatally wounding Funkner and Mrs. Stearns. He then fled.

Perry, who was shot in the shoulder, ran to a nearby house and summoned the police. A police automobile, scouring the countryside soon after the robbery, encountered a motor cyclist who speeded past them. Their orders to halt were not heeded and they gave chase. But the man outdistanced the police car and escaped towards Fort Logan, an army post, 10 miles west of Denver. According to the police the man's description fitted that of the robber.

Survivor's Story.

"We never had a chance," was the way Perry, the sole survivor, described the shooting. "We were riding along, joking and laughing. All of a sudden, out of the darkness, a man leaped on the running board and thrust a pistol through the side of the car."

"He ordered us to drive down a little lane. We did as he directed. All the time he kept cursing us. Finally he told us to stop. Then he stepped from the running board and jerked open the door. 'Give me your cash,' he yelled."

"I had dropped what little money I had behind the cushions. We told him we were broke. A few words were said—I don't remember what. Suddenly he jerked a second pistol from his belt—and there were bright flashes of fire. One, two three—they seemed never to stop. I remember Marie gave a groan and slid out of the car door onto the road. I remember throwing up my arm to protect my face."

"Something stung me in the arm. There was a moan and I knew Funkner was hit. When he slumped over the wheel, I jumped out of the car and ran. I didn't know where I was going—only that I was going for help."

"I saw a man running down the road. He was the man who held us up. I ran the other way. There was a house. I hammered at the door. There was a light and a man opened the door. I told him they were all dead. He got some clothes and ran with me."

SHERIFF SCHULER RESTRAINED FROM CONTROL OF CITY JAIL

Four Deputies "Invade" Building as Gesture to Take Supervision From Jail.

Sheriff Schuler was in control of the City Jail for two hours today and then the city obtained a temporary restraining order which restored it to the supervision of Melvin C. Lefman, the jailer. The two acts merely were preliminary gestures in the Sheriff's attempt to have the courts declare him supervisor of the jail. It means more political patronage.

Oliver T. Remmers, attorney for the Sheriff, opposed the issuance of a temporary restraining order by Judge Roskopf and contended the Sheriff should be permitted to remain in control although he might be ordered to show cause why he should not be removed. The court pointed out that the jail has been under the supervision of a jailer, appointed by the Mayor, for more than 40 years and that the Sheriff could suffer no wrong or loss. The order is made returnable Friday.

Schuler sent four deputies to the jail at 8:30 a. m. ostensibly for prisoners who were to be arraigned in court. Instead, they snapped handcuffs over the barred door to the jail, preventing its closing, and then secured it with a chain and lock. They next locked the doorway into Jailer Lefman's quarters and took possession of the elevator.

The Sheriff's seizure of the jail was in accordance with the suggestion of Circuit Judge Miller when Schuler sought to mandamus Lefman to turn the jail over to him. Judge Miller suggested that Schuler take the jail by force and said that the merits of the matter could then be determined when the city sued to regain control of it.

ROUGH WATER IN CHANNEL, MISS EDERLE POSTPONES HER SWIM

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 3.—Rough water has compelled Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American swimmer, to postpone her attempt to swim the English Channel. She was to have started early this morning.

The channel, difficult swimming water even under the most favorable conditions on account of its low temperature, strong tides and swirling currents, has been unusually turbulent for the last few days. This morning a heavy sea was still running and Miss Ederle decided to await a more favorable condition.

Champion Agrees To Grant No More Wet "Interviews"

Bill Very Penitent, Tells Committee He Did Not Intentionally Violate By-Laws.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

The Holder Must Hold Strictly to Player-Writer Rule to Remain Eligible.

By Charles E. Parker.
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—William T. Tilden II, national lawn tennis champion, will hold strictly to the spirit as well as to the letter of the player-writer rule from now on.

Faced with suspension from amateur tennis both in this country and abroad, the last title-holder, who reported to the Saturday night meeting of the Executive Committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association in a very penitent mood. He told the committee he was sorry that he had erred in the rule he helped to frame by granting interviews exclusively to the newspaper syndicate which employs him; that he had not realized he was evading or violating the spirit of the rule, and that he never would do so again.

And the committee, several members of which had made transcontinental trips solely for the purpose of settling once and for all the status of the willowy tennis star, promptly incorporated his statement in an agreement which Tilden signed without a quibble.

The committee also rendered a formal interpretation of the player-writer rule as regards interviews and reviews of tournaments in which the player-writer is a competitor, and empowered the president of the U. S. L. T. A. and the chairman of the Amateur Rule Committee to suspend any player upon receipt of information to the effect he has violated in any way the amateur laws of the association.

Bill Not Belligerent.
Early in the week, Tilden was reported in a belligerent mood. It was said that he planned not to answer the summons of the U. S. L. T. A. committee, and when it was learned he would appear at the meeting it was believed he would come prepared to contest the charges preferred against him. But it was anything but a belligerent mood that he brought to the meeting room at the back and call of the tennis officials.

The committee which had considered the case prior to summoning Tilden into the meeting, unanimously concluded and decided that the champion in granting interviews to his syndicate had committed acts prohibited by the by-laws and was subject to suspension and to be declared ineligible to compete in the Davis cup challenge matches played under the auspices of the association—a ruling which would bar him from tournament, national championship and Davis cup play in this country, and, through the working of the agreement with the International Federation, would prohibit his playing sanctioned tennis in foreign countries.

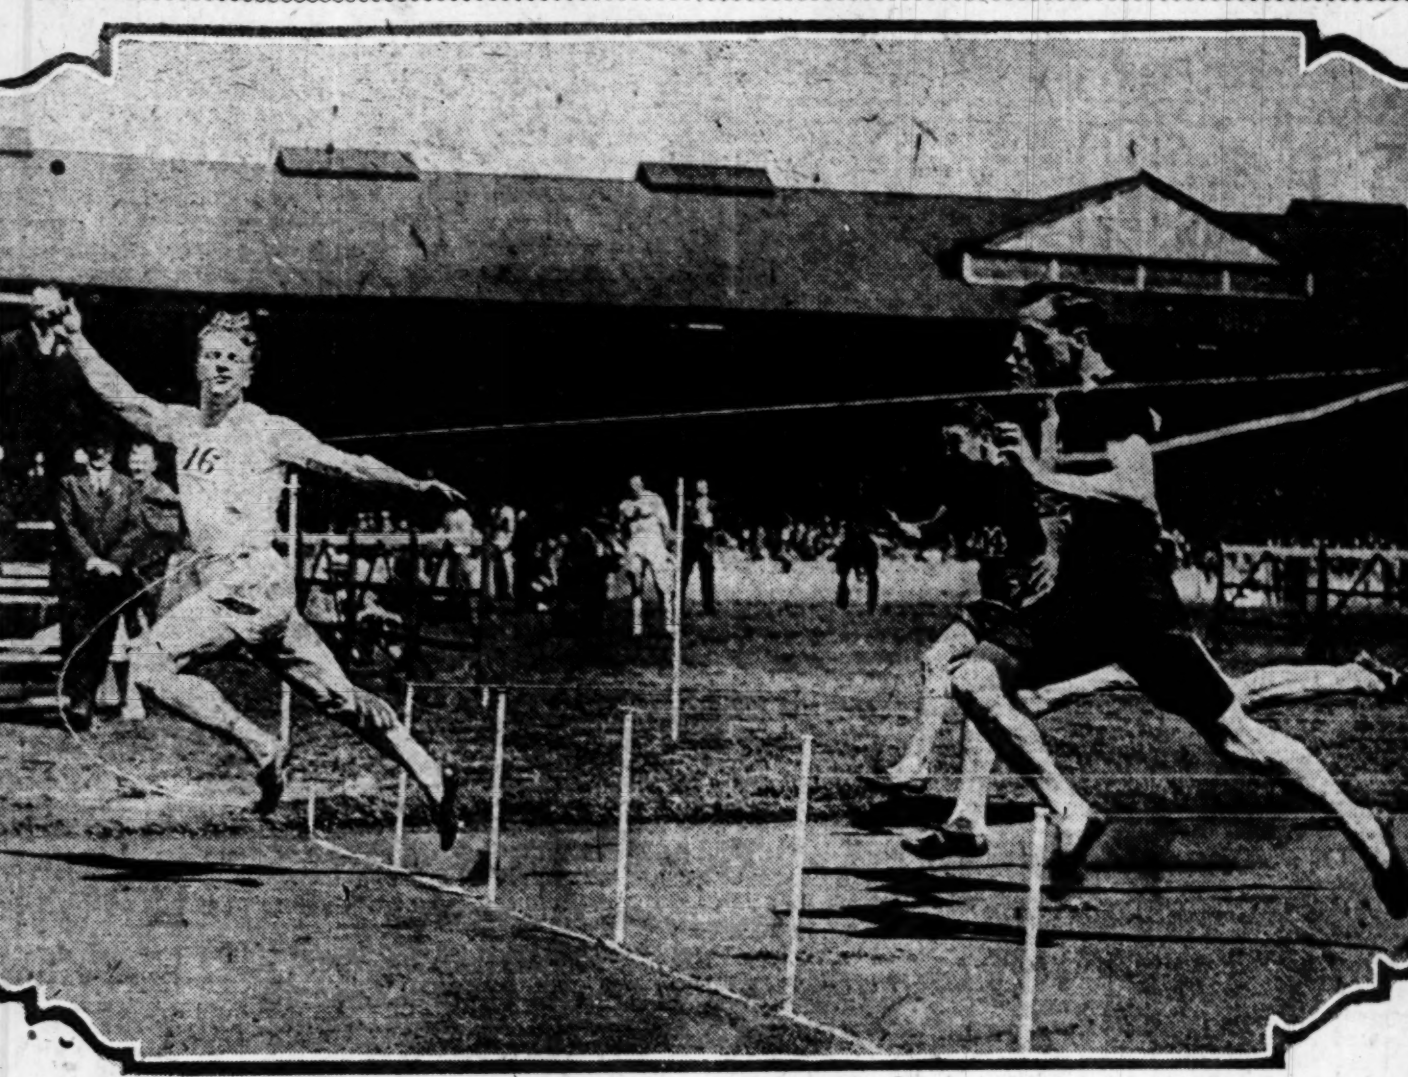

That decision, coming on the eve of the Davis cup challenge match, clearly indicated that the national champion confessed sorrow for his acts, declaring he had not intentionally violated the rule and that he desired always to comply with the requirements of the by-laws as construed by the Executive Committee.

In so penitent a frame was he that the committee agreed to accept his promise he would grant no more interviews to the syndicate, which employs him, and that he would give no resume of tournaments in which he participated until three days after the tournament is completed and the resolution suspending him was not adopted.

The action, in effect, is a suspended sentence and only by holding strictly to the player-writer rule will Tilden be permitted to continue in amateur play. Because the resolution was not adopted Tilden remains eligible for the approaching international, national and Davis cup tournaments, and already has agreed to team with William M. Johnston in the Davis cup doubles tryouts at the West Side Tennis Club early this week; to appear in the round robin singles matches and to represent the East in the annual East vs. West tournament at the West Side Club on Friday and Saturday.

Kansas City Pro Football Team to Play in St. Louis

At Least Two Games Will Be Scheduled Here, President of League Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—That Kansas City will play at least two games in St. Louis was again stated by Joe Carr, president of the National Professional Football League, as the association ended its two-day meeting here last evening. A number of dates are open on the Kansas City schedule and any one of them may be played in the Mound City.

The Kansas City schedule as it now reads is: Sept. 27 at Duluth, Oct. 4 at Akron; Oct. 11 at Cleveland; Oct. 25, Milwaukee at Kansas City; Nov. 1 at Rock Island; Nov. 8, Duluth at Kansas City; Nov. 15, Rock Island at Kansas City; Nov. 22 at New York.

Thanksgiving day has not yet been closed, and it is thought possible that one of the powerful Eastern teams such as the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets or Columbus, O., would consent to a St. Louis game.

John Dunn, president of the Minneapolis team, threw a bombshell into the meeting when he announced that his popular Northern team would disband for the year, due to poor crowds and lack of support in the Northern metropolises. He is retaining his charter, however, and will resume play in 1926, if conditions warrant. It is thought probable that before this time his charter will be bought by St. Paul, which has wanted a team in the league for some time. He said, in an interview here today, that he would welcome any reasonable offer for it.

The meeting next year will be held at Detroit in January and Philadelphia in July.

Charles Mudge Wins 3-Mile Meramec Swim

Furman 1-5 Second Behind Victor at Finish—15,000 See Race.

Charles E. Mudge, champion distance swimmer of the St. Louis district, retained his championship in the annual three-mile Meramec River swim when he finished first yesterday in a field of 39 paddlers. Mudge was forced to give his best effort to nose out Adolph Furman by one-fifth of a second.

Arthur B. Rathert actually finished first, but he had a handicap of 15 minutes.

Mudge's time for the three miles down stream was 64 minutes and 40 seconds. Rathert's actual time in the water was 73 minutes and 32 seconds.

The start, made at Valley Park, south of the railroad bridge, was witnessed by several thousand persons and the banks of the river at the finish line at Meramec Highlands were lined with spectators. The crowd was estimated at 15,000.

Mudge and Furman both started from scratch. Their nearest competitor for the time prize was P. H. Hutchinson, who finished second to Rathert, with a six-minute handicap. His actual time was 67 minutes and 38 seconds.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP VISITED BY CROWDS

Air Unit Instructor Arrives at Nevada, Mo., From Dayton O., in DH-4 Plane.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CAMP CLARK, NEVADA, Mo., Aug. 2.—"Square right, one, two, three, four, and other commands familiar to veterans of the World War were shouted by company commanders and top sergeants this morning as the 2500 National Guardsmen swung into the first day's drill of the two weeks' training program.

The intensive effort yesterday resulted in a minimum of complaints being registered by inspecting officers this morning. The morning's drill of a horde of townfolks yesterday. A cloud of yellow dust hung over the road from Nevada all afternoon, raised by visitors' automobiles. Following the evening mess the hands of the 138th and 140th Infantry and of the 110th Engineers played popular airs until 9 p. m.

The majority of those in camp had sought the shade of their bunks before that time and few besides the night guard heard tape. A day spent in unaccustomed toil with pick, shovel and tent pole induced sound slumber.

Lieut. Fred Nelson, regular army instructor for the air unit, provided the first day's thriller when he arrived over the encampment just at dark with a new H-4 plane which he obtained yesterday at Dayton, O. The landing field provided at the Camp site was not designed for night landings, and the big plane roared and spat fire as Lieut. Nelson swooped low to get his bearings. Aided by lanterns swung by members of the air unit, Nelson brought his plane safely to earth.

Ten Planes Arrive.
The 10 unit planes arrived at 4 p. m. from Lambert-St. Louis Field. They circled camp in formation before landing. The flyers reported a trip free of incident.

Recruits of the air unit were personally introduced to the mysticisms of loops and tail spins by Maj. William Lanning, commander of the organization. This morning each newcomer to the unit was taken on a short flight by the Major.

The strength report submitted to Gen. Baump this morning showed that the 140th Infantry, Southeast Missouri, is said to be the largest enrollment of any National Guard organization in the United States.

The ratio of Springfield rifles contended with the roar of the machine guns as snipers throughout the morning, as members of the 110th Engineers tried for riflemen honors on the largest range. The infantry will follow the engineers on the range.

Preparations for the camp athletic program, have been completed and the first of a series of boxing bouts will be held tonight. The program also includes baseball games, track events and wrestling.

Training Program.
The training program outlined for the infantry include the manual of arms, school of the soldier and maneuvers. The air unit will be drilled in reconnaissance, aerial acrobatics, cross-country flying and liaison with the infantry. The engineer and tank units will follow schedules provided by regulations and will participate in the maneuvers.

Camp orders put revivify at 5:45 a. m. with retreat at 6 p. m. All persons, officers and enlisted men are required to be in their bunks at 11 p. m., even when granted passes to Nevada.

NOTED PSYCH-ANALYST DIES

Dr. Joseph Breuer Collaborated With Freud in Scientific Work. Correspondent of the Associated Press. VIENNA, July 12.—Dr. Joseph Breuer, one of the most widely noted psychoanalysts, died recently at the age of 81. Early in 1912 he was credited with curing the aid of hypnosis a pronounced case of hysteria in a woman.

It was this epoch-making cure which is said to have led Dr. Sigmund Freud, 14 years younger than Dr. Breuer, to build up a psycho-analytic system of his own. Subsequently, both scientists collaborated in setting down their experiences on this subject in a book called "The Psychic Mechanism of Hysterical Problems," published in 1893, and in a later publication, "Hysteria." Dr. Breuer did not entirely approve of the theories which Freud continued to advance and soon gave up further analytical research work, but his personal relations with Freud continued unmarred.

BLAST IN APARTMENT HOUSE

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 2.—Hundreds of persons living in a fashionable residential district here were awakened early today by a terrific explosion in the second floor of an uncompleted apartment building. No one was in the building at the time of the blast; however, persons sleeping in an adjoining apartment house narrowly escaped injury by flying bricks and plaster.

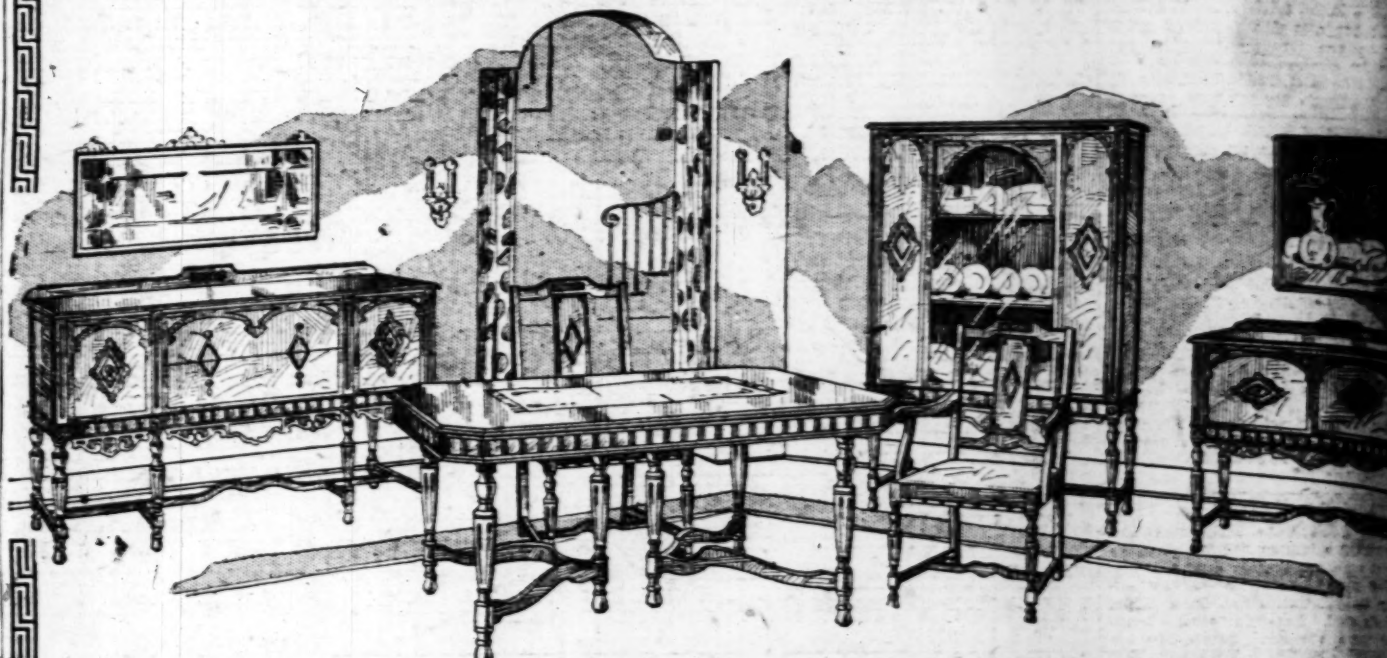

Police found nine sticks of dynamite, with the fuses still burning. Indications were that the explosive which caused the blast had been placed on the second floor of the building. About eight square feet of the side wall was blown out. Con Smith, foreman of the construction company that is erecting the building, told police the company was using nonunion labor.

CURRENT COMMENT.
OUR ball teams, when abroad they roam,
Fall backward in the race;
But, when they start to play at home,
They seem to take a brace.
Which indicates the weather here
Has quite a bracing atmosphere.
So let us never more depart
From our own ballfield;
They can't upset our apple cart
If right at home we stick.
For, when abroad our heroes roam,
They never bring the bacon home.

ARKANSAN IN JAIL
OVER DISAPPEARANCE

Sentenced for Contempt
After 3-Year Prison
Term for Theft at Para-gould Is Reversed.

Liberty bonds to the value of $17,100, declared by an Arkansas man to have been stolen from his safe deposit box, were sold in St. Louis, officers of the United States Secret Service have learned. Four $1,000 bonds, a part of those missing, have been located in the United States Treasury in Washington, and $11,250 paid for others of the bonds has been impounded here.

The bonds, in the time that they were missing, figured in civil and criminal litigation in the Arkansas courts, the owner declaring that they were stolen, while another man, accused of having stolen them, said he had won them in a game.

James W. Alexander of Paragould, Ark., the owner of the bonds, said they disappeared from his safe deposit box in the National Bank of Commerce, Paragould, soon after he thoughtlessly let the key to the box pass out of his hands.

Alexander has stated that on May 18, last, an acquaintance, one Lane of Paragould, asked him the loan of a key, saying he wanted to open a trunk. Alexander took a key from his key ring, but as he could not get the lock off the key, he said he let him take the key, on which were several other keys, including the key to his box.

Conviction Reversed.
A week later, Alexander said, he noted his deposit box and found $20,200 of his Liberty bonds had been removed. Lane was arrested, and inquiry showed that he had pledged some of the bonds as collateral on a loan. Lane was convicted of theft and sentenced to three years in prison. However, Alexander brought a civil suit and obtained a court order for the return of the bonds, but Lane refused to tell where they were, and he was placed in jail for contempt of court. Lane is still in jail.

M. P. Huddleston of Paragould was Lane's lawyer in both the criminal and the civil proceedings. Service operatives, investigating the case, learned that Huddleston visited St. Louis last April and arranged a sale of $17,100 of Liberty bonds through Harry S. Rein, secretary of the St. Louis Stock Exchange.

A St. Louis firm, with which Rein arranged to purchase the bonds, paid for them with a check for $18,000, including premium and attached coupons.
Investigation begun.
Huddleston cashed the check and placed the money in a safe deposit box here. The bonds, after passing through the hands of the St. Louis firm, were sold to different purchasers, but four $1,000 bonds passed into the hands of the United States Government, and their numbers showed they were a part of those claimed by Alexander. After this discovery, Secret Service agents were instructed to begin the investigation.

Rein said to Secret Service operatives, who questioned him about the handling of the bonds here, that he had been imposed upon. Through Rein, the safety box in which Huddleston had placed the money was located, and its contents, $18,000, were impounded. Also, the Secret Service agents recovered $12,500 which Rein was holding for Huddleston.

The Secret Service inquiry developed that Huddleston, after leaving the bonds here, did not remain in St. Louis to await the sale, but returned to Paragould, leaving instructions that if the sale was closed, a telegram should be sent to him at a hotel in Poplar Bluff, Mo.

"Fighting Is Good."
It was agreed, the investigator learned, that a code message, "Fighting is good," would indicate that the bonds had been sold successfully. This message, it was learned, was received by Attorney Huddleston after the sale of bonds had been made here.
Later, after the Secret Service continued on Page 3 and Column 2
